

COMPARING ALWAYSUP AND MICROSOFT'S SRVANY

Feature / Benefit	AlwaysUp	Srvany
Start any application as a Windows Service	✓	✓
Free	✗	✓
Automatically restart the application whenever it stops	✓	✗
Easy-to-use GUI to create & manage applications	✓	✗
Stop applications gracefully	✓	✗
Detect CPU & Memory "hogs"	✓	✗
Restart hung/non-responsive applications	✓	✗
Extensive support for GUI applications (Session 0 Isolation)	✓	✗
Delay before starting/restarting the application	✓	✗
Run a batch file before the application starts/after it stops	✓	✗
Restart the application at a specific time	✓	✗
Automatically connect mapped network drives	✓	✗
Dismiss dialog boxes, crash prompts	✓	✗
Capture output to a text file (console applications)	✓	✗
Boost/lower the application's priority	✓	✗
Run the application on specific CPUs	✓	✗
Stop the application with your own custom command	✓	✗
Export settings to XML for easy sharing across PCs	✓	✗
Set dependencies on other services	✓	✗
Extensible - Plug in your own failure detection routine	✓	✗
Send email alerts when the application stops, etc.	✓	✗
Receive daily/weekly activity reports (Uptime, CPU, etc.)	✓	✗
Write errors/warnings to the Windows Event Log	✓	✗
Support Windows XP/Server 2003	✓	✓
Support Windows 10/8/7/Vista and Server 2012/2008 R2	✓	✗
Control applications from your web browser	✓	✗
Technical support via phone, email and web	✓	✗